

L'EFECTE VOLADOR 2019 - Red

Red Grenache / Carignan

L'Efecte Volador red is one of the first wines to go to the market. It is a privilege to have it in our range because it is the young wine, the most popular and the one that makes us enjoy at any time of the year. It's our "nouveau."

It appears in 2014 and becomes one of the essential wines, as it pleases all palates for its youth, freshness and lightness.

It is produced with the traditional varieties of the Montsant area: Garnacha Tinta and Cariñena. Most of the vines are planted in the area of Marçà, some are also found in the Serra d'Almos and the vines are between 15 and 35 years old.

The soils are diverse, but most are clay-calcareous and also "panal", which is the most typical in the area. They are poor in organic matter and retain moisture. This is an advantage, because as there are years that rains are scarce, humidity kept under the soil gives the minimum hydration to the vine to make sure grapes will offer quality.

All work done in the vineyard is manual and the viticulture is organic, which means that no chemical-synthetic products are used. At the same time, it helps to keep the biodiversity and sustainability of the plant.

In the winery we let the grapes express themselves in their own way to maintain their essence more pure and faithful to their grape variety and their terroir. It ages for a few months in the bottle before going to the market.

Fresh, versatile and light character.

It reflects the typical characteristics of red Grenache and Carignan.

It is a very Mediterranean wine, with red and forest fruits, as well as cherries, plums, blackberries, undergrowth aromas and mineral touches.

Silky texture, light and fresh. Ideal to enjoy it for drinks or accompanied by diverse gastronomy.
